“Engaging the Diaspora for sustainable development”

ABOUT US

The African Foundation for Migration and Development is a coalition of African Diaspora, people of African descent, Swiss and other professionals, experts and resource persons, willing to make a difference in the society. This is realized by harnessing the human and material resources in Europe, Africa and other parts of the globe to promote policies and best practices in international development cooperation for the equitable and sustainable development of Africa. AFMD works in collaboration with the private sector, the civil society groups, the academia and the media, as well as with policymakers in the public sector. It is a not-for-profit NGO with Headquarters in Bern, the capital of Switzerland.

The African Foundation is an international platform for the elaboration and implementation of Diaspora and African development policies. AFMD is committed to the development benefits of migration and the positive nexus between migration, diaspora and sustainable development as well as international cooperation. A think tank that is devoted to the implementation of international, regional and national development policies with a dual strategy: firstly by engaging mainstream policymakers and other development stakeholders and influence them to recognize and support the extensive development work of the African Diaspora; secondly engages in research works and trainings, supports et enhances, with technical expertise, the impact of the contributions of Diaspora groups, institutions and organizations that engage in migration and development. Furthermore, it facilitates networking, partnerships, collaborations and joint ventures.
